There was discussion about the need to transfer funds into the General Account to cover the amount due to the IRS for employee taxes. The previous manager had not paid these taxes nor completed the required report form 941 for over 4 years beginning with 2010. Without the records that were not turned over to the new board, some of the 2014 reports were incomplete. Ms. Carlson was able to reconstruct the data and file the reports. The total due is $38,322.68. This figure does not include any interest or penalties. Interest can be from 2% - 10% and the penalties top out at 25% of the total owed. The penalty alone could be nearly $10,000. Ms. Carlson explained the process she went through with the IRS and the information she was able to obtain on how to request relief from the penalties. She also explained the methods she used in reconstructing the data that was used in the reports. The process shows our due diligence in rectifying the issue. Ms. Montgomery felt that a professional might be helpful with the penalties and interest. Mr. Morris also mentioned looking into a tax ombudsman.

There is not enough in the General Account to pay the taxes and our regular bills. Following discussion Mr. Morris moved to transfer $40,006.14 from the Water Revenue Investment account into the General Account. Ms. Carlson seconded and the motion passed unanimously.
